Bachelor of Science student at the University of Auckland with experience in teaching basic programming and retail. I'm energetic and a passion to help others. I am confident while talking to new people and hope to help them in any manner possible. I manage time, plan and meet any deadlines well, as I aim to achieve targets or goals set. I am currently seeking for an internship in the summer, in an IT field which involves AI, machine learning, testing and software deployment, as I find working on these very exciting, due to them being very challenging.
